

We currently receive our internet service from a small, local independent ISP. Our service has been superior in almost all ways from similar service we had from a larger telecommunications company. We believe that losing local ISP's will severely disrupt the structure of the internet. We oppose the deregulation of broadband services currently in place.